Dear customers

Object: Material Safety Data Sheet (MSDS)

With reference to the recent CLP and Reach regulations, please keep in mind that practically all vegetable oils, plant extracts, raw materials for food use and many natural products of various kinds are NOT dangerous and do not present risks of any kind both for users and consumers.

In particular:

- they are not classified as dangerous according to regulation (EC) no. 1272/2008 (CLP), are not persistent, bioaccumulative, toxic (PBT), very persistent or very bioaccumulative (vPvB) as defined in Annex XIII of Regulation (EC) no. 1907/2006 (REACH); they are not included in the candidate list of substances of very high concern (SVHC).
- they do not contain CMR substances.

Therefore for these products the supply of a Safety Data Sheet is no longer mandatory (REACH Art. 31).

Thanks
Kind regards
